Dear State Directors:

The Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) invites State agencies that administer the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and School Breakfast Program (SBP) to apply for Fiscal Year (FY) 2013 Method II Administrative Reviews and Training (ART) grants. FNS has up to $4.5 million available to fund grants to State agencies to support their oversight and training efforts to reduce administrative errors and improve school meal program operations.

In FY 2013, FNS will award ART Grants under two methods: Method I ART Grants provide funding for additional administrative reviews and Method II ART Grants provide funding for training and oversight activities. This announcement describes the FY 2013 Method II ART Grant process. Information pertaining to Method I ART Grants was issued via a memorandum to State directors on January 22, 2013.

Background and Authority

The Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 2004 (P.L. 108-265) amended Section 22 of the Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act (NSLA), to establish a requirement that State agencies conduct additional administrative reviews of selected local educational agencies (LEAs). It also amended Section 7 of the Child Nutrition Act to provide funding for States to be used for administrative reviews and training of LEAs. Both of these requirements are focused on LEAs which have demonstrated a high level of, or a high risk for, administrative error. To assist State agencies in achieving program improvements, the USDA FNS has up to $4.5 million available in FY 2013 to fund ART grants.

Purpose of Method II ART Grants

The purpose of this grant funding is to decrease administrative errors in those LEAs and schools identified by State agencies as having operational errors or where errors are likely to arise. For FY 2013, State agencies should focus on one or more of the following areas in developing their ART Method II Grant applications:

- Training of LEA administrative personnel in application, certification, verification, meal counting and meal claiming procedures. Training may include web-based training sessions;
- Oversight and training activities focused on the nutritional quality of the meals;
- Modifications that may be necessary to update processes and systems to comply with revisions to the administrative review process; and
- Technology improvements which demonstrate an ability to address administrative errors through the use of targeted monitoring and increased training in error-prone LEAs. States choosing this option must clearly demonstrate how the proposed technology can be used to implement State-level activities, specifically review and training activities associated with error prone LEAs. Proposals for technology improvements addressing other aspects of State-level program management or local-level functions will not be considered.

Types of Grants Offered

FNS is offering two types of Method II ART Grants:

1. Planning grants for up to $75,000, intended for NSLP agencies that know they need to improve and address their State's administrative errors, but may need to conduct additional research to identify the most effective way of doing so to ensure that a chosen approach is actually the most effective approach. Grants will be awarded for a period of up to one year.
2. Implementation grants up to $1,500,000, intended for NSLP agencies that know what they need to do to improve their State's administrative training and oversight processes, but lack the resources to implement those changes. Grants will be awarded for periods of one to three years.

Who Can Apply

State agencies that administer the NSLP and the SBP may apply for the Method II ART grant funding. The attached RFA and application materials outline the requirements to which a State must adhere in order to be considered for funding. State agencies may apply for either type of grant, Planning or Implementation, but not for both. Only one grant application will be accepted from a State agency in response to this solicitation. FNS will consider and evaluate all proposals using the criteria described in the RFA and award funds for both Planning and Implementation grant types on a competitive basis.
